Girls! Make beauty lotion at home for a few cents. Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. PROPAGANDA CHARGED BY DENT, OF ALABAMA

ANSWERING ATTACKS NATIONAL SECURITY LEAGUE.

Representative Assails Methods Used Against Congressmen as to War Program.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Declaring that propaganda is being directed against members of congress "who fail to obey the edicts of this self-constituted national security league," Representative Dent, of Alabama, chairman of the house military affairs committee, made a speech in the house today answering the attacks on that organization.

"That there can be a difference of opinion," Mr. Dent said, "as to the best method of raising an army and the age at which the youths of the land should be called to the military service, no honest man can deny. It is a pitiful condition that there should be an element in this country seeking discord rather than harmony among those who desire the best method of winning the war. I fear the Greeks, even when bearing gifts."

Referred to Editorial.
Mr. Dent said the charges against the Boston Transcript of Aug. 22, denouncing him as "an obstructionist to the war program" and demanding his resignation as chairman of the military committee, Mr. Dent said the editorial was in line with propaganda inspired by the national security league. He said his home newspaper, the Montgomery Advertiser, had denounced this editorial as "sheer mendacity," and he said the same propaganda was "being used against other members of congress, both republicans and democrats whose course has been in accord with my own."

Before War Entry.
Mr. Dent said the charges against his record and those who voted as he did referred to matters before the United States entered the war. He said he was charged with voting against the amendment to make the army either 220,000 or 250,000. "I admit," he said, "that under peace conditions I was in favor of building the national guard under federal rules and regulations and under federal rules rather than a standing army. It was this plan that was adopted in the national defense act, and by reason of it we were able to put into the war between 400,000 and 500,000 men with experience and service. In view of this splendid record of the Rainbow division, which represents nearly every state in the Union, and a separate division of New England national guardsmen on the western battle front, I have no apology to make for my stand in behalf of the citizen soldiers."

Made No Request.
He said that at no time since his membership on the military committee has the war department asked congress to appropriate for the maximum number of men provided for by law. Until recently, he said, congress has fixed the maximum number of men for the army and the war department has estimated the number to be appropriated for in each annual appropriation bill.

VENETIANS RETURN TO FORMER HOMES

Lido, Island Seashore, Opened for Bathers, Guarded by Soldiers and Trenches.

(London Daily News).
Venice, Sept. 3.—That part of the population that has been gradually drifting back to Venice since the victory on the Piave, in spite of a slight renewal of activity by Austrian airmen after a lapse of seven months. More than 10,000 people who went away have returned already against the lido, which is the island seashore of Venice.

It must be the oddest seaside place in Europe, for the big bathing establishment which used to be in peace time the parade ground for the most daring bathing costumes which the tastes of feminine visitors from Austria could devise, now lies in the midst of the lido defenses against an enemy landing. The sand is dug into trenches and a thick barbed wire entanglement runs right across that part of the beach where the bathers bask in the sun after their swim. It is odd to see this throng of people in bathing costumes and sitting under gay sun umbrellas, with that belt of sinister barbed wire passing among them and sentries with fixed bayonets watching their water frolics from each corner of the enclosure and from the beach around. Sometimes even the Venetians are obliged to take their pleasures seriously, for there is a notice in each dressing cabin to the effect that bathers are to fire on any bather who goes beyond the limits of water fixed for the establishment. Since the season opened, the sentries have recalled three or four heedless swimmers by sending bullets to splash up the war heads of men.

As one leaves the bathing place too there is a scrutiny by military police to be undergone, perhaps to defeat any attempt by the Austrians to land troops disguised as bathers.

KITCHIN'S STATEMENT GIVEN CLOSE ATTENTION

MAJORITY LEADER PRESENTS TAX BILL.

He Will Insist on Full Attendance While House Considers Measure.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The war revenue bill, greatest measure of its kind ever brought before the legislative branch of any government, passed into the second stage of its progress through congress today when it came up in the house with less than one-third of the members ready in their seats to begin its consideration. In fact, there was not even a quorum present when Democratic Leader Kitchen arose to call up the bill, which provides the means of raising $24,000,000,000 to pay America's share for the war for the coming year. Representative Longworth, republican, of Ohio, warned the house that it was about to consider the greatest piece of legislation in the world history—front point of magnitude of the measure, notice that he would insist at all times on a full attendance.

"From these discussions here," said he, "I think we all will agree there will come a great deal of improvement."

The big bill is considered with the house sitting as a committee of the whole on the state of the union.

Distribute Debating Time.

Representative Kitchen, by agreement announced today, will distribute half of the debating time among democrats, and Representative Fordney of Michigan, will allot the remainder among the republican speakers. The plan is to have the bill ready for the senate in about ten days.

After almost an hour's delay the house succeeded in getting together about half its membership and the actual consideration of the bill began. At the request of Mr. Kitchen, the first formal reading was dispensed with and the majority leader stepped to his place before the speakers' desks to make the opening statement describing in general the terms of the great bill. He read a noisy and enthusiastic demonstration in recognition of his hard work in the preliminary preparation of the measure.

The democratic leader began his statement and both sides of the house gave him the closest attention.

Marks Epoch in World.

"Here's the bill," said the majority leader, "which marks an epoch in the history of the world. It proposes the issue of $16,000,000,000 in liberty bonds and to take from the people in taxes more than $8,000,000,000. No other nation has ever attempted such an undertaking, but we believe that it can be done without crippling or hurting a single American industry or without financially embarrassing a single individual."

"Eight billion dollars," Mr. Kitchen continued, "is twice as much as any nation since the beginning of time has ever attempted to collect from the people by taxation and it is three times as much as the combined taxes and bonds of the entire civil war."

HINDENBURG CLAIMS VICTORY FOR GERMANS

Amsterdam, Sept. 6.—"The decisive battle for the central powers is now progressing, and we are standing shoulder to shoulder in our defense," Gen. Von Hindenburg declared in his contrived to bolster up the morale of unsettled Germany, which is published in a Vienna paper.

"It is true we are suffering grievously," Von Hindenburg admits, "but we shall emerge stronger from it. We will return home after the glorious battle to assured peaceful labor, and then pluck the fruits of our fight."

"Persevere is the watchword, and if we observe it we may look serenely to the future."

NEPHEW OF BERNSTORFF PLACED UNDER ARREST

Albert von Muench, nephew of Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, has been arrested in San Francisco by federal agents on the charge of traveling on a fraudulent passport. Von Muench is being held at Angel Island.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After several applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.—(Adv.)
